Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

We have often wished that the president would come to some agreement with the men he has appointed to what might be called "life and death" war time control of various war time industries and manpower. Paul McNutt, for instance has a huge responsibility and huge powers to discharge his duties. At a press conference the president notably differs from his manpower commission head. The president in conference says that there are a lot of people who are not aiding the war. Asked about McNitt's proposal to put 4F classification, some millions of men registered with the Selective Service, to work in factories and fields as another branch of fighting services, the president says in effect, he will have to read the McNutt statement first before committing himselr. This is the kind of stalling that the American people are heartily tired of.

We have been fighting the war under foggy conditions. In fact we have had 12 years of fog. The U. S. States Supreme Court occassionally clears up a patch of the fog. Once in a great while some one group gets a clear view of the road we are following. We are sure now, at least, that rationing, price and rent control are legal. The Supreme Court has said so, with buf one judge dissenting. The recalcitrant can now be whipped into line, and this is as it should be. It is reassuring because we once more find this is a nation governed by law and not by the whims or prepossessions of bureaucrats.

We think that we should perhaps make an exception in regards to fighting the war in a fog. This is not true, once the our boys are ushered into the armed services. When they begin to march against the enemy, the road becomes crytal clear. There's a job to be done, their leaders, who have one objective, and that to whip the enemy at all costs, know where they are going. The fog which pours out of the White House doors and windows and envelopes the land, does not obscure the war task, once the military and naval leaders take over.

We think this fog is distilled largely by lack of exact definition of the powers granted the various war agencies. It rises whenever two bureaus find their powers overlap. The lending agencies of the government one might say, are legion. These is no fixed policy governing all the numerous agencies. Each agency therefore grabs all the authority it can. When Congress tried to restore to Hirshey his original powers, at the head of Selective Service, the president in order to soften the blow to McNutt's vanity ordered that they should continue to consult each other. And, we must remember, that under his war time grant of powers, the president's word is law.

This singular facility in confounding confusion extends in every direction from the White House. Note the effect of stating baldly at another press conference, that Russia was to receive a third of the Italian navy. The repercussions of this announcement rang around the world. The fog extended to the British Isles and to Moscow and especially clouded the prospect in Italy. This for the reason that so far as known the Italian navy was not at the sole disposition of the man in the White House. That was sometime ago and there has been nothing in the news to indicate that Italian ships have been removed from the Mediterraneam.

In fact we sometimes wonder if the hit-or-miss statements of the president at press conferences are not responsible for the erratic course Stalin pursues in such acts as recognizing Bagdolio government, the curious jabs he makes at his allies, in regard to playing up rumors of their perfidy, and the total picture he presents of a Russia that is steadily beating the Germans, and his evident intent to play a lone hand from now on. We can like or lump it, and for that Russian course, we have to thank unquestionably, a president so intent on the political game at home that he doesn't even try to follow a consistent course abroad.

We need as we never needed before, a man in Washington, who knows how to drive a twenty mule team down the road to victory.

FEEDER AIRLINES URGED BY S. F. DOWN TOWN ASSN.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 30.—Feeder airlines radiating from San Francisco to all parts of its Central and Northern California trade area were foreseen today by the Down Town Association, local business group.

"Just as good local railroad and bus service is important to a city which is the hub of any agricultural and trade area," said the association, "so will a comprehensive and efficient feeder air service be important to that city in the future, for it will continue to bind together those communities which share a common economic interest.

"For that reason, it is essential that San Francisco, the natural center of the Northern California and Nevada trade area seek to ecquire feeder airline services that meet its needs and those of its neighbors."

The association advocated development of a municipal airport vast and flexible enough to accommodate feeder airlines as well as other air services destined to radiate from this port.

The municipal Region Service Committee for years has supported every application to the Civil Aeronautics Board to add stops in California to existing air lines and to develop new feeder lines.

SHERIFFS ASSN. TACKLE PROBLEM OF DELINQUENCY

Sheriff Carl J. Tobiassen returned Tuesday from the state convention of sheriffs held in Fresno with the report that the major part of the time spent there was upon the subject of juvenile delinquency.

Tobiassen said that the sheriffs were seriously concerned with the mounting rate of juvenile offenses. They recommended increasing stress upon parental responsibility, making delinquent parents amenable to punishment for neglect of their children and the adoption of a educational course in the schools which might go far to make children realize the dangers inherent in delinquency.

Tobiassen was elected sergeant-at-arms of the association. He states he is in line for the presidency, an honor Nevada County has never had.

Making A Better America

By H. P. DAVIS

(Author and Mining Engineer)

Editor's Note: H. P. Davis, author and mining engineer in a discussion of the Better America Program, endeavors to answer the question: What may we do to help—Those of us who are not in the armed services or engaged in production for war? had some pertinent suggestions of which this is the first installment:

I have not suggested that we may contribute anything of material value towards the solution of such problems other than to promote a spirit of unity among diverse interests and to lend our support to plans and procedures which we individually approve.

Citizenship in this great democracy of ours involves certain obligations, some of which many of us are prone to neglect.

The future well being of "We the People" is in jeopardy and can be secured only by united action towards a common end—a better America.

Even if we individually have no suggestions for concrete plans for achievement towards this end we can, at least, study and analyze the various programs now being offered and individually, or as a group get behind programs in which we have confidence and leaders who we feel that we may trust.

None of us would think of building a structure until safe foundations were provided and, as you all know, an essential preliminary to a firm foundation is an investigation, by drilling or other means, of bedrock or sub-soil conditions.

We would not plan a structure by an sort until after we had determined to our own satisfaction, that the business for which it is to be designed was a worthy venture offering reasonable opportunity for profit and for private or public betterment.

Having decided on the structure we would call on the services of the skilled engineers or architects in whom we have confidence and if we are wise we would check up their plans and follow the progress of the construction.

The outstanding reasons for the prosperous growth and unexampled development of this country have been the unique native ability of our people to find and seize opportunities for profitable enterprise, the initiative and courage to undertake new businesses, or remodel old one, a gift for management and cooperation and a capacity for hard work.

I have told you something of the Better America program of the National Association of Manufacturers and also of the Special Committee on Post war Economic Policy and Planning, recently constituted by a unanimous vote of the House of Representatives—our representatives, the elected representatives of "we the people."

Some of you have expressed distrust of "big business" and others have intimated that they had little faith in constructive accomplishment by a congressional fact finding commission.

You know of the initiative, courage, persistance and costly experiments and the large investment of outside capital that finally brought these mines into profitable production—and kept them in production through good times and bad, by courage, initiative and skilled management.

It is as obvious that we need skilled management in industry as it is that we need skilled management in Washington—the most able experienced and courageous management that we can possibly secure.

KENDRICK WILL RULE ELKS

New officers of the Nevada City Elks Lodge will take their seats on the last Thursday evening of April, when William L. Tamblyn, whose term expires will hand his gavel to the new Exalted Ruler, Eldon Kendrick.

Other officers chosen are Ward Sheldon, leading knight; William Wasley, loyal knight; Irving Long, lecturing knight; Lambert Thomas, secretary; Horace Curnow, treasurer; William C. Tamblyn, tyler, and George Carter, trustee.

RED AND BLUE FOOD STAMPS VALID FOREVER

Elimination of the expiration dates of both red and blue rationing stamps as a further step in the simplification of rationing was announced today by the Office of Price Administration.

Expiration dates were removed on shoe stamps last September with the exception of Stamp 18 in Book 1 which becomes invalid on April 30; and sugar stamp expiration dates were done away with three weeks ago.

Five blue stamps will be made valid each month, and thre red stamps will become good each two weeks as before. Like ration tokens, however, they will be good indefinitely.

Blue stamps A8 to E8 are valid now, and blue stamps F8 to K8 become valid April 1.

Red stamps A8 to J8 are now useable. K8 L8 and M8 become valid April 9.

OPA spokesmen say the plan has been under consideration for some time since the elimination of expiration dates tends to prevent buying rushes just before coupons expire. Furthermore, consumers have tended to cash ration stamps and hoard tokens in some areas.

Mrs. James Axhelm of Auburn is enjoying a visit here with her mother, Mrs. Dorothy Gwin.

DUCKS, GEESE EAT 25 MILLION POUNDS OF RICE

SAN FRANCISCO, March 30—As a result of a statewide survey revealing a loss of 25,000,000 pounds of rice from depredations by ducks and geese, the Joint Wildlife Management Committee of California has launched a vigorous eleven-point program, the objective of which will be to protect crops by dispersing wild fowl, and by feeding them on state and federal refuges. These losses must be reduced, not only because of the hardships on the farmer, but because the WFA is urging increased production of rice for the armed forces, it was pointed out by George Lodi of Arbuckle, the chairman of the committee. The losses, according to the committee studies, are not confined to rice but also include serious damage to lettuce, alfalfa, milo maze, grain and pasture.

The committee, Lodi stated has been assured that the WPB has authorized the production in 1844 of 570 millions rounds of shotgun shells to be made available to farmers and sportsmen for protecting crops against depredations. In addition 40 millions rounds of center fire ammunition, limited to the four principal calibers, will be authorized. Most of this production will be heavy loads necessary for crop protection and hunting.

A major objective of the committee will be the establishment of additional state and federal game refuges so located as to draw the wild fowl away from the production areas. It is the opinion of the committee that there is a pressing need for a series of feeding areas which could be operated as public shooting grounds in order to harvest a proper proportion of the duck population, which is now greater than at any time since 1900.

The problem of the duck shooting season and the bag limit for this year is also being considered by the committee, pending federal investigations, and recommendations that may be adopted by the committee. The eleven point program advocated by the committee to control wild fowl depredations during the coming season is as follows:

That the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service permit feeding of ducks under proper control on duck club grounds in order to help draw ducks from rice and grain fields during and prior to harvest (committee urges feeding up to 200 yards of the shooting area.)

That the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service and the State Division of Fish and Game operate their wild fowl refgues to the maximum degree possible as feeding and resting places for migratory wild fowl in order to draw the birds away from the growing crops.

That the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service establish additional wild fowl refuges in California where water is available and feed can be produced in order to draw birds from crop lands.

That the federal agencies (War Production Board) make more ammunition available to farmers for herding and dispersing wild fowl threatening growing crops.

That the proper federal agencies (WPB) make available a reasonable supply of ammunition for duck shooting during the regular season as an additional aid to rice and grain growers.

That the USDA County War Boards be authorized to approve immediately purchase of ammunition by farmers for use in herding or dispersing wild fowl in the protection of growing crops.

That the State Fish and Game Commission and the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service give consideration to the need for additional public recreational areas to be operated as game refuges, feeding grounds and used under proper regulation as public shooting grounds. The committee recommends that the State Fish and Game Commission initiate and integrate a program of public shooting grounds in California in order that non-duck club members may have a chance to take a fair share of wild fowl available.

That the military authorities permit under proper regulations the herding of ducks off crop lands by airplane.

That the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service provide necessary additional funds for the planting of the present Sacramento refuge to provide feed for ducks.

That full cooperation and support be given to a proper blackbird control program in California.

That the Secretary of the Interior issue orders permitting unrestricted shooting of wild fowl in areas where crop depredations are serious.

WITH OUR BOYS IN GLOBAL WAR

J. Downs, CB—

J. Downs, brother of Mrs. Earl Holbrook who has visited here from Sacramento, writes the following interesting and amusing incidents. He has been receiving many letters from home and from his nephew, Leonard Holbrook, in Itay. He considers the Japs the lowest type of animal life from his experiences with them. He had been in New Zealand and was in the thick of the fighting on Wewak. He has had jungle fever but is fine now. It had been 138 degrees in the shade but while still hot not as bad as at first. There are lots of snakes, crocodiles and bugs on the islands. A buddie in the next tent placed his hand on the tent pole and glancing up saw a three foot snake twined about the pole above his hand. It takes 26 days to get letters where he is stationed.

He thought the bugs, large and small, mostly large, were equipped with gas masks. They keep on flying about the lights and flit does not seem to bother them at all.

He is a painter of ability and also designs furniture as a pass time. He said the lights brought out the bugs. One was in his bed and cut a three inch gash in his back. He had heard there is lots of gold in New Zealand, but it could stay there forever as far as he was concerned. There's one thing he wanted to take out of the country and that was himself as soon as possible.

Max Solaro, EM 2/c—

Max Solaro, former chief of police of this city, wrote the following letter to James Allen, now chief of police of Nevada City.

Hello Jim: Well it has been a long time away from home but I hear from Grace (his wife) every day. And I am feeling in the best of health and I am hoping that you and wife are the same. Wife wrote and told me of poor Mrs. Vanberg. I sure feel sorry for Martin, say hello to them for me. Well, Jim, we came by way of the Panama Canal, it was a long roll, we are now in Hawaii. I can not say what part but we are there. It is a pretty place but not as it is at home. Jim, do you know of any of the boys from home that are here? If you do get their names and address and I will try and look them up. Robinson is still in Camp Hueneme, Calif. I got a letter from him, and he is OK. The food is good here and there is plenty of it. Well, Jim Ido not know what more I can tell you. We cannot say much as you know, but I do think of all of you at home. How is O. Hardt, and the rest? Oh, yes, Tiny, also How's old Sammy? Well, this is all this time, Friend, MAX.

Cpl. Leonard Holbrook—

Mrs. Earl Holbrook received a letter from her son Cpl. Leonard Holbrook this week and he stated he was now in Italy. He had seen lots of beautiful country. He writes mainly of things at home and said to tell everyone hello for him.

Fred Angilini, CB S2/c—

Mr. and Mrs. Angilini received a message from their son, Fred Angilini, which stated he had arrived in New Guinea. He found the climate very warm, but the food was fine. He has been eating plenty of coconuts. He met DelRoy Bonivert of Grass Valley and enjoyed a good visit with him. He also met several other local boys while on board ship one being Frank Richardson. He told his mother everything was fine, out just to have a good dinner in mind for him when he gets home.

BIRTHDAY DINNER

Twelve sat down to dinner in honor the birthday of Harry Luschen. The affair took place at the Luschen home on Boulder Street, Sunday evening. Two birthday cakes adorned the prettily appointed table. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Luschen, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Norton, Mr. and Mrs. Franc Luschen, Mr. and Mrs. Angiolini, Mrs. L. Geronimi and daughter, Miss Rose Geronimi, and Mr. and Mrs. Will Davis.

WOOD CONTRACTOR INJURED

Jake Strah, wood contractor, while assisting his wood cutters on Saturday cut a deep gash across the top of his left hand while splitting sawed logs. The accident occurred in the Blue Tent area. He hurried to a local doctor and was taken to the Miners Hospital. Tendons have been cut and the gash opened the flesh to the bone. It will be some time before he will be able to return to work.

Hats off

to the People who Produce your Electric Light and Power

The Charles A. Coffin Foundation confers a special citation for distinguished wartime achievement on the

ELECTRIC LIGHT AND POWER INDUSTRY

"Faced with unprecedented demands, the Electric Light and Power Industry has met every war-production requirement without delay and without impairment of its peacetime services to the public. This achievement merits the appreciation not only of American industry but of the entire nation."
—FROM THE CITATION

THIS CITATION is richly merited—for here is a branch of industry that has done a remarkable war job that has not been generally recognized.

If electric power should fail, or if it be too little or too late, the disastrous effects would startle all America. Vital machines would be motionless. Millions of homes would be cold—and an eerie blackout would descend over the land.

But, electricity has not failed. Rather, in 1943 twice as much power was produced as in the year before the war—with the minimum of new facilities—and despite large losses of skilled employees to the Armed Services.

In the words of J. A. Krug, Director, Office of War Utilities of W.P.B., "Power men—public and private—should be proud of the job that has been done in providing power supply. Power has never been too little or too late."

We of General Electric, who have built a large part of the electric equipment which generates, distributes, and uses the electric power of America, take pride in the way this equipment is standing up under the strain of "forced draft" wartime operation.

Many of the men and women responsible for this remarkable record are your neighbors—the manager or meter reader who lives across the street, the girl in the accounting department who is in your bridge club, the lineman with whom you bowled last night. A word of appreciation from you to them will lend added significance to this well deserved citation. General Electric Company, Schenectady, New York.

What is the Charles A. Coffin Foundation?

THE PURPOSE of the Charles A. Coffin Foundation is to encourage and reward distinguished achievement in the electrical field by "prizes to employees; by recognition to lighting, power, and railway companies for improvement in service to the public; by fellowships to deserving graduate students; and by the grant of funds for research work at technical schools and colleges."

Establishment of the awards was announced twenty-two years ago in a statement issued by President Swope and dated December 2, 1922:

"On May 16, 1922, Charles A. Coffin in his 78th year retired from the active leadership of the General Electric Company. Mr. Coffin has been identified with the development of the electrical industry since 1882. He was the founder and creator of the General Electric Company, of which he has been the inspiration and leader for thirty years.

"As an expression of appreciation of Mr. Coffin's great work not only for the General Electric Company but also for the entire electrical industry and with the desire to make this appreciation enduring and constructive as Mr. Coffin's life and work have been, the Board of Directors of the General Electric Company, created on his retirement and now desires to announce the 'Charles A. Coffin Foundation.'"

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

The Secret Weapon in Dan Mason's Attic

Dan Mason was always what we call a "string saver." When he unwraps a package he rolls up the string—folds the paper—and puts them both in his attic for safe-keeping.

"Never can tell when things'll come in handy," says Dan.

And you should see his attic! Stacks of paper, balls of string, empty bottles (Dan being a moderate man and sticking just to beer), old horseshoes—and goodness knows what-all.

We used to kid him a lot. But then comes the scrap drive, and Dan sets a record for the metal and the paper he contributes. And the glassmakers owe him a medal for the empty bottles he turns in.

From where I sit, Dan's one up on us all. What's more, he's got us doing it too—collecting scrap, returning empty bottles—not because somebody makes us do it, but because it's the Democratic way of working together to win the war.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

Christian Science Society of Nevada City holds services every Sunday in their church, 114 Boulder Street at 11 o'clock.

Sunday school at 9:45 a. m. A Wednesday evening testimonial meeting is held on the first Wednesday of each month at 8 o'clock.

Our reading room at 117 Broad Street is open every day except Sundays and holidays from 2 to 4 p. m.

The public is cordially invited to attend our services and visit the reading room.

"Truly in vain is salvation hoped for from the hills, and from the multitude of mountains; truly in the Lord our God is the salvation of Isreal." These words from Jeremiah comprise the Golden Text to be used Sunday, April 2, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston. The subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be "Unreality."

Included among the Scriptural selections will be: "The Lord is my light and my salvation: whom shall I fear? the Lord is the strength of my life; of whom shall I be afraid?" (Ps. 27:1.)

The following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included: "The undedstanding even in a degree, of the divine All-power destroys fear, and plants the feet in the true path—the path which leads to the house built without hands, 'eternal in the heavens." (p. 454.)

Communion service Thursday evening at 7:30 p. m. Good Friday service from 2 p. m. till 3 p. m. Adjutant Sainsbury of the Salvation Army will assist in the service.

SUNRISE SERVICE EASTER MORN

Another Easter is fast approaching on April 9th and we want to plan for it. We desire to start the Easter Day aright by attending the Sunrise Service. Garfield Robson will be general chairman. Mayor Hall will be program chairman.

Program: Chorus singing led by Lloyd M. Geist. Prayer, Rev. David Ralston, Vocal duet, Rev. and Mrs. Steelberg. Chorus singing. Scripture reading. Introductory remarks by Mayor Hall. Sermon "Easter", Rev. Steelberg. Chorus singing. organist, Miss Sue Hawkins. Let us make this a real community service. The Boy Scouts will direct the crowd to the air port.

There never was a time when this service ought to mean so much as now. We are in the most brutal war in all history and our boys are dying by the thousands on the battle fronts of the world. Some of our boys are on the way to training camps, some are finishing their training and are about to go over seas, some are on the way over now and hundreds of thousands will go over, yes, millions before this war is over. Think of the boys who have made the supreme sacrifice already and the hundreds of mother's hearts that are aching at this Easter time.

REV. DAVID RALSTON.

DIVORCE

WEISBROD—In Nevada City, Nevada County, March 27, 1944, Florence Marion Weisbrod against Paul Frederick Weisbrod, suit filed. Grounds, cruelty.

Traffic accidents are still killing or injuring more than a thousand workers a day. One of the chief reasons, according to Herbert E. Manners, general manager of the National Automobile Club, is growing disregard of the wartime speed limit of 35 miles per hour. Let's slow down and stop traffic accidents—to save manpower for warpower.

The youngsters of today will soon be behind the wheels of the nation's automobiles. And much of the safety of lives on the streets and highways will depend on how careful and expert in driving they are. The Service Department of teh National Automobile Club asks public support for driver training in high schools wherever possible. This is something for every citizen to think about, to help prevent accidents in the tremendous expansion of traffic which will follow victory.

Most military cartridges continue to be loaded with corrosive primers, as the non corrosive type is not considered suitable for military uses.

Mrs. Douglass Farmer left Monday for Bend, Oregon, to spend a few days with her son, Robert Farmer, enlistee in the U. S. engineers, now training at nearby Camp Abbott. Douglass Farmer who is away on business is expected to arrive in a day or so to spend some time with his wife and son.
